Why Bluray?

The comparative improvement in quality between a DVD and a Blu Ray we produce is substantial and noticeable. The clarity of a Bluray product is reflected by the fact that it has over twice as much information in it - 1080 vertical lines for Bluray versus 480 vertical lines for a DVD.

Is Bluray for me?

First of all, if you don't have a Bluray player and a widescreen TV or are planning to buy them soon, there is no real point in buying a Bluray video. If you do have both of those items, you have to weigh the additional cost of a Bluray over a DVD (as they are $10 more for a single video) versus the increase in quality and clarity. Producing Bluray is more expensive than DVD as it requires new, more expensive cameras, the blanks cost substantially more than DVD blanks and duplication times are much greater. All of this requires that we charge a more for a Bluray product.

What is a Digital Option?

This is the same option that is available on Hollywood DVD's and Blurays. In addition to your DVD or Bluray, we provide you with a high definition version of the show you are purchasing as an MPEG-4 file that is playable on any computer (even if you only purchased the low definition DVD). The file can be played directly from the DVD media it is provided on if you have a DVD drive or that file can be copied to a computer or tablet device for playback on the device's hard drive. The option is not available separately as you must purchase the DVD or Bluray in order to get the option. Please note that one show as a high definition MPEG-4 file can be as large as 4.3 GB and that may be very large to store on a smartphone or similar devices with limited storage space.
